Patricia Joudry **

ON: Wednesday, February 18, 1987

AT: 8:30 P.M.

Institut Simone de Beauvoir Institute

2170 Bishop Street

Room: 101 Lounge

* The reading of: A Very Modest Orgy will be done by Concordia Acting Students, under the direction of Eileen Sproule of the Concordia Theatre Department.

** A prolific writer of domestic comedies and melodramas for radio, television and stage, PATRICIA JOUDRY reached vast and responsive Canadian and American audiences during the 1950s. Her plays were successfully produced in New York and London before an emergence of professional Canadian theatre. She explored such issues as child-rearing, women's role in society and in the family, and women's personal freedom, well before the critical writings of Greer and Friedan.
